Kahiki Foods Introduces New Lo Mein Entrées

Kung Pao chicken and pepper steak join frozen food line

COLUMBUS, OHIO (June 21, 2010) – Kahiki Foods, the leading manufacturer of restaurant quality, Asian frozen food, is now offering two new entrées featuring lo mein noodles – Kung Pao Chicken with Lo Mein Noodles and Pepper Steak with Lo Mein Noodles.

Kahiki's Kung Pao chicken entrée features white meat chicken, vegetables and lo mein noodles in a spicy Kung Pao sauce. The pepper steak meal includes stir fried beef, bell peppers and lo mein noodles in a pepper sauce.

"We pay close attention to consumers' taste preferences and industry trends and are always looking for new and innovative products to add to our growing line of Asian frozen foods," said Tim Tsao, vice president of sales and marketing for Kahiki Foods. "Our research shows that entrées containing lo mein noodles are growing in popularity. By combining pasta with two of Kahiki's most popular dishes, Kung Pao chicken and pepper steak, we're marrying a classic favorite with two modern flavors. We're confident these entrées will wow customers' taste buds."

Both restaurant quality meals have no trans fat or MSG added. Available in single-serve (10.5 oz) and multi-serve (24 oz) sizes, ranging in price from $3.49 to $7.99.

Editor's Note: High-resolution images of both products are available upon request.
